

Photography Bio

Greg Mills

North Carolina photographer Greg Mills has worked behind the camera for the last 20+ years and in the creative industry for more than half of his life. After retiring from the music industry and moving the family to Raleigh from Atlanta many years ago, Greg's photography studio The IMAGE MILL built an in-demand reputation delivering exceptional wedding and portrait photography throughout the Carolinas.

After a few years of operating on a crazy schedule, an inspiring 'get away' for the photographer was long over due. Greg spent a couple of weeks roaming the coastal landscape from Corolla to Ocracoke, and the inspiration found on that trip was life changing.

" When I crossed over the Alligator River Bridge for the first time I knew that I was somewhere very special. The beauty of our state, especially along the coast, is epic, ever changing and endless. It draws me back several times each year and leaves me more inspired with every visit."

The IMAGE MILL is a Landscape, Aerial & Interior Art Photography Studio, currently based in Fuquay-Varina, North Carolina. Greg builds lasting client relationships by capturing beautiful scenes and landscapes, showcasing his photography in custom archival quality products and delivering exceptional customer service.

" What drives me to get up at 2am and hike into a dark forest or wander the dunes all night searching for the Milky Way is the opportunity to share my vision and God's creations with you. Thank you for considering my work to add inspiration to your world! "

Follow me and my latest work at www.theimagemill.com
<https://www.facebook.com/imagemillnc>
<https://www.instagram.com/theimagemill/>