

Phyllis Smith Wells

I've lived in Eclipse Village in North Suffolk for 14 years. Since coming to this magical waterfront spot my artistic influences have changed a bit but almost always involves being near or on the water.

Before painting and mixed media I worked in stained glass for 21 years, which greatly influences my painting. I started painting in 1997 and have had a lot of fun creating mixed media the past few years. I taught art at Renaissance School of Arts in Suffolk for several years, learning much from my students who varied in age from 7 to 18. Renaissance caters to home schooled students who crave art in their lives and they produced some amazing work for me.

I love to create new things, make BIG messes in the studio, and spread my love of all things art!
